

African Butterfly (Australia/New Zealand)

EVER THOUGHT ABOUT SELLING AFRICAN BUTTERFLY COMBS? NO RISK STARTER OFFER.

Special 10 Comb Starter Pack to get you started in your own Distributorship.

Are you, like most of us, wondering how you are going to get through this financial slump? Do you wish that you had the money to invest in starting up a small business? Do you already have a job but wish you had just a little extra cash for Christmas presents, a movie, a treat, school outings for your kids, and more? Do you own an African Butterfly and have people stop and ask you where you got it?

African Butterfly is actively looking for new distributors across Australia and is offering a 10 comb starter pack with FREE postage and an offer of 5 FREE preselected combs in your follow-up order of 20 combs.

What does that mean?

You select 10 combs from a variety offered (the most popular sellers) along with marketing material (brochure and packaging for the combs) and I will throw in the postage to you for FREE. If you do not sell those 10 combs in a two month period (from date of postage) I will buy them back from you at the same price - with postage for your account. Information and tips on how you can market African Butterfly combs will be included in the package.

What have you got to lose?

If you ordered 10 of the cheapest combs it would total $139.04. Your marketing material would total $11.70. So your initial outlay would be $150.74. I would pay for postage ($15 by Express post bag). If you decided to return all the combs or part thereof, I would refund you the cost of the combs and any marketing material returned undamaged) and you would be out $15 for the postage.

What have you got to gain?

If you sold those same 10 combs at the price that I generally sell for (in this case $27) you would make $270. Less the cost of the combs and marketing material leaves you with $119.27 profit for your efforts.

What's next?

Once you have sold those ten combs (and it is not difficult to do) there is a further special offer on your follow-on purchase of a 20 Comb Pack. Your follow on order will include 5 preselected combs absolutely FREE (including brochures and packaging material). Postage on the follow-on purchase is for your account - $15 by Express Post Bag.

Are you ready to take the plunge? Are you keen to make some money? Have you got any questions?
